Impact Report 2025

A Message from the President and Chairman of the Board

We humbly celebrate a transformative year of ministry at the Children's Aid Society in 2025. Your steadfast support of our vision that all children are safe and feel loved continues to guide every decision we make and every service we provide.

This year marked a defining milestone in our history: the opening of the Werner Early Learning Childcare Center (WELCC) and our move into the new building. What began as concrete foundations and rising walls has become a vibrant, welcoming space filled with the energy of children learning and growing each day. The launch of our Early Learning Childcare program has expanded our capacity to serve families with high-quality, nurturing care in a safe, trauma-informed environment designed to foster healthy development from the very beginning. The Lehman Crisis Nursery was relocated into the new building by the end of 2025.

Moving into the new facility has allowed us to better integrate services, strengthen collaboration among programs, and create a warm, child-centered setting where families feel supported and valued. The WELCC stands not only as a new building, but as a visible symbol of hope and long-term investment in our community's children.

Throughout the year, we remained actively engaged in the community that makes this work possible. We again sponsored Faith Fest with the York Revolution, participated in National Night Out in York City, and connected with families through other community events. We were grateful to participate in the Adams County Community Foundation Giving Spree. Last year marked a season of meaningful growth in Adams County. Both our Incredible Years parenting program and Family Advocacy services expanded to meet increasing needs. We continue to cherish traditions such as the annual Untame Riders bike ride and toy drive benefiting the families of the Lehman Crisis Nursery.

As we advance our strategic plan through 2027, we remain focused on fiscal sustainability, strengthening governance practices, deepening our commitment to all individuals, creating trauma-informed and healthy centers, and continually evaluating our programs to ensure we provide the highest quality compassionate and professional services.

We are deeply grateful for each of you—individuals, businesses, churches, Sunday school classes, community partners, and foundations—who supported us this year. Your generosity empowers our team to walk alongside children and families as they build stronger, healthier lives.

To God be glory, praise, and honor!

Many Blessings, Eric and Adam
